

West to Present on Large Volume Delivery Systems, Administration and Transfer Devices, and Prefillable Syringe Component Expertise at the PDA Conference

October 22, 2024

West Pharmaceutical Services, Inc. (NYSE: WST), a global leader in innovative solutions for injectable drug administration, today announced participation in the 2024 PDA Universe of Pre-Filled Syringes and Injection Devices Conference in Phoenix, AZ to showcase its leadership and expertise on industry challenges and trends in packaging and containment.

"With the rise of biologic drugs, injectables are the fastest growing drug segment today, bringing with it new challenges of complex molecules and treatment requirements," says Atul Patel, Vice President, Delivery Devices at West. "As the market leader, West continues to adapt and expand the performance of high-quality drug delivery packaging and devices to meet the changing needs of patients, regulators, and industry partners."

At this year's PDA, West will be sharing insights through various posters and a presentation on how leveraging primary container and device platforms can reduce risk and accelerate time-to-market for combination products.
