

West to Present on Development of Large Volume Delivery Systems, Self-injection Devices, and Prefillable Syringe Component Expertise at the PDA Conference

October 16, 2023

Expert presentations and posters offer thought leadership in drug delivery innovation, patient adherence and pharmaceutical manufacturing

West Pharmaceutical Services, Inc. (NYSE: WST), a global leader in innovative solutions for injectable drug administration, today announced participation in the 2023 PDA Universe of Pre-Filled Syringes and Injection Devices Conference in Gothenburg, Sweden to showcase its leadership and expertise on industry challenges and trends in packaging and containment.

"In the last three years, we have seen a tremendous number of changes in the industry such as increasing regulatory requirements, increasing quality standards and requests for higher performance drug packaging and devices. As we celebrate our 100-year milestone, West continues to expand and advance our portfolio of high-quality drug delivery packaging and devices to provide system solutions to support increasingly more sensitive and complex molecules," says William Matakas, Vice President, Product Management, Elastomer and Container Closure Components at West.

West will highlight its industry expertise through several technical-focused PDA presentations and posters:
