

West to Attend and Showcase Industry Leadership in Packaging and Containment at CPhI Worldwide Conference

October 31, 2022

West Pharmaceutical Services, Inc. (NYSE: WST), a global leader in innovative solutions for injectable drug administration, today announced its participation at CPhI Worldwide in Frankfurt, Germany to showcase its leadership and expertise on industry challenges and trends in packaging and containment.

"As a leader in the healthcare industry for nearly a hundred years, West recognizes the needs for complete system solutions to support more complex molecules and combination products, along with meeting increasing regulatory requirements. To support this effort, we recently announced a collaboration with Corning," said Chris Ryan, Vice President, Containment and Glass Systems at West. "At this year's conference, we look forward to sharing some recent data that highlights our advancements in solutions for lyophilization as well as our NovaPure® components with Valor® Glass technology for low temperature closure container integrity."

West experts will hold two featured speaking sessions:

Title: Design of a New Elastomer Formulation for Lyophilization Applications
Speaker: Francis Carroll, Specialist Technical Customer Support
Session: Tuesday 1 November, 12:00– 12:25 PM

Title: Selection of a Primary Container Closure System Capable of Maintaining Closure Integrity during Cold Storage at -80°C
Speaker: Jennifer Roark, Technology Manager, Container Closure Integrity
Session: Tuesday 1 November, 4:00– 4:25 PM
